

HORROR

Of the Jewish Massacre Is Still Growing

Number Killed is Two Hundred and Thirty-Five

Massacre Not Due to Peasant Uprising Against Usur- ious Jews As Reported By Russia—Relief Funds Are Needed for Survivors.

(Scripps-McRae Cablegram to the Advocate.)

BERLIN, May 21—Dispatches to the Vossische Zeitung, the Tageblatt and the Lokal Anzeiger today show that a violent anti-Semitic epidemic has resulted from the Kishineff massacre and is preparing throughout eastern Europe.

In the district of Dorogi Roumania, Prime Moruzzi, former governor of Bucharest is reported to be inciting the populace against the Jews by stories of ritual sacrifices by the latter. The prefect of Dorogi has informed the Roumanian government that the situation is causing great anxiety. From Titza Pavelsov, in the district of Putna, comes a report that the women there have taken a hand in the trouble and are preaching a bloody crusade against the Jews. Similar agitations are also reported in the Roumanian province of Argesch Nae Dumiresco. The dispatch adds that a Roumanian official is reorganizing an old anti-Semitic league throughout the country. The Bucharest correspondent of the Vossische Zeitung wires that a general massacre of Jews in Roumania has been planned for today and that the government is encouraging the feeling against the Jews. Minister of the Interior Lascar has announced new repressive legislation against the Jews.

The Riga correspondent of the Lokal Anzeiger today states that the Jews there have taken measures for self-protection in view of rumors of approaching persecution. The Tageblatt asserts that the massacre of Jews has been planned in many Russian towns similar to that which occurred at Kishineff, probably at Whiteside.

FURTHER DETAILS OF THE AWFUL MASSACRE.

(Advocate Telegram.)

NEW YORK, May 21—The total amount received up to this noon for the relief of Kishineff sufferers is about $30,000. A least $5,500 of this was collected in cents, nickels and dimes among the poor in the Jewish section of the city.

Among the letters received giving details of the massacre was one which reached Hahbi Hyman Brodsky, of the Anshe Russian synagogue, West Kenny street, N. J., from Abraham Greenfield, the sexton of the synagogue in Kishineff. In part the letter says:

"Our stores and houses were destroyed by the Russians who fell upon us unexpectedly. Many people were murderously attacked on the streets. They did not pity old men, women or children. Do you remember Mirilla, the restaurant keeper? Well, Mirilla's daughter was ill when 22 rascals dressed in red broke into the home and destroyed everything. A little girl was thrown out of the window and Baski, the unlucky mother, was murderously assaulted. She died two hours later. Her husband, Zoreb, took a stick to hit one of the rascals, but a policeman struck him in the face with a sword and made him totally blind.

"Moses Atlas, 74 years old, whom many people in Newark, N. J., know, was tied up and taken to the roof of the Zetomistick Hotel and from there hurled to the ground. He was dead when we found him.

"Shoomah, the teacher, who, you know, was a hunchback, was taken from his home. They drove nails six inches deep into his hump. He is now in the hospital and is not expected to live."

The letter details numerous other outrages and says the Kishineff Jews intend retreating to Doubnenia, Kretchna. It closes as follows:

"Dear Rabbi Brodsky. If my letter does reach you notify the whole American people. Let me know whether or not you can publish it. They won't allow anything to be published here about the trouble. Let the American people know why our people go to America, the land of the free."

(Advocate Telegram.)

NEW YORK, May 21—The whole truth of the horror at Kishineff is coming out as refugees reach the European capitals.

The number of dead buried by the soldiers was 235, according to a reliable citizen of Bucharest, who was in Kishineff two days after the massacre.

Lord Cranborne in the British House of Commons, states that the number killed was 100, which is double the figures given out by the Russian foreign office.

Wealthy refugees, who have reached Vienna, say one of the moving causes of the outbreak was the refusal of three Jews to advance Governor Von Raaben a loan of 80,000 rubles, as wired the Advocate yesterday.

During the massacre Jews fled to Odessa and appealed to Count Muschkin, the military governor, who within two hours had obtained orders from the Czar to dispatch 16,000 Cossacks to Kishineff.

The riot and pillage did not cease until the arrival of these military police, who arrested 700 rioters.

The imperial ukase retiring Governor Van Raaben of Bessarabia is dated May 17. The anti-Semitic press is indignant over his disposal.

Newspapers which have deprecated the massacre and criticised the conduct of the officials have been suppressed or censored.

Prominent Jews the world over, express indignation at the interview given out at Washington by the Russian ambassador, Count Cassini, in which he declared that the Russian Jews had aroused hostility by usurious dealings with the Gentiles. Count Cassini's mail is filled with threatening letters. The Alliance Israélite of France reports that there are still 354 victims in the Kishineff hospitals; that 4,000 families have been made homeless, and that the property loss is 8,000,000 francs.

MASSACRE

Was Not Due to Peasant Uprising Against Usurious Jews As Reported by Russia.

Odessa, May 21—Russian official statements that the murders and other crimes committed at Kishineff were due to a peasant uprising against usurious Jews are false. There was nothing spontaneous about the affair. The whole carnival of massacre and pillage was done systematically in cold blood. The ring leaders wore badges, like military officers, and directed the operations systematically in different parts of the town.

Their followers did not rush about erratically like a disorganized mob under the influence of sudden blinding passion. On the contrary, they obeyed their leaders and pursued their task of destruction methodically and effectively.

Possibly the performance was more thorough and more bloody than the St. Petersburg officials intended, but the strongest reasons exist for believing that without the instigation of the minister of the interior the tragedy never could have happened.

Of course M. von Plehwe acted out of a sense of patriotism. The Jews have maintained their racial and traditional solidarity and defied Russian assimilation with an obstinacy that has been a mortal offense to the steam roller statesmanship of the Czar's counselors.

ENGLISH SENTIMENT AROUSED.

London, May 21—Public indignation against Russia is flaming forth in the newspapers throughout the country and mass meetings are fanning the fire. The Kishineff massacre is the principal text of the protest, although Muscovite tyranny in Finland and trickery in China are angrily denounced.

Some uneasiness is manifested in official quarters lest the squall should extend to parliament and cause the government additional annoyance on the subject of the Russian proceedings.

CONTRIBUTIONS POURING IN.

New York, May 21—Daniel Guggenheim, treasurer of the Israelite relief fund, received a check for $200 from Secretary of State John Hay for the relief of the sufferers at Kishineff.

Mr. Guggenheim sent $10,000 to the Alliance Israélite Universelle, Paris, by the Ivernia last Saturday and a similar amount will go by La Lorraine today.

Contributions have been pouring in to the fund at the rate of $100 or $200 a day from all parts of the country and from people of every faith.

RUSSIAN SPIES

Who are Now Working in this Country Sending Information Back to Europe.

New York, May 21—There are fully 5,000 paid spies of the Russian government in the United States; according to statements of prominent Hebrews of this city.

It is also stated on the best of authority that a large number of these sleuths are working in Chicago and the middle West.

It is said that everything having the least interest to the Russian Government that is said or done in the United States is transmitted as rapidly as possible by this army of spies.

They are especially anxious, it is said, to get letters written by persecuted Russians to relatives and friends in this country in order that they may send back to the central government utterances which may be used as justification for further persecution.

Knowledge of this fact, it is said is what makes the Hebrews on this side so careful not to give verbatim extracts from any foreign letters in relation to the massacres in Kishineff and elsewhere.

"We must protect our countrymen and ourselves," said a prominent Jewish publisher.

"The Italians have their Mafia, and Russia has its band of murderers, who work with as much secrecy and dispatch as the Mafia. In sixty days the Russian Government does away with anyone it wishes to. No one who attacks the Russian Government is safe."

WEATHER

Bureau Now Predicts that the General High Temperature Will Continue Indefinitely.

(Advocate Telegram.)

Washington, May 21—The weather bureau predicts that the general high temperature prevailing throughout the country will continue indefinitely. Low barometer is reported in Colorado, but it is stated that although this condition will probably move northeastward within the next 36 hours, it will not in that time materially affect the drought situation in the middle Atlantic states and the lower lake regions. It may however, cause showers Friday in the lower Ohio valley.

Forest Fires.

(Advocate Telegram.)

Glens Falls, N. Y., May 21—The Adirondack forest fires are reported under control this morning. The loss will reach $1,000,000.

GAS

Explodes Killing a Number

Impossible Yet to Tell How Many

ACCIDENT IN A RAILWAY GAS HOUSE IN NEW YORK

THE FIRE IS STILL BURNING

But It is Not Believed It Will Extend Beyond the Gas House—A Body Recovered.

(Advocate Telegram.)

New York, May 21—An explosion occurred about noon today in the gas house in the yards of the New York Central railroad at the corner of One Hundred and Fifty-fourth street and Sheridan avenue. It is reported that eight bodies have been taken from the scene and that the police think that other deaths have occurred.

Later—it is impossible at this time to estimate the loss of life. One hundred men are at work in and about the gas house and many are known to have perished. One body has been recovered and two other laborers have been taken out fatally injured. It is believed six more are dead in the ruins. While the fire is still burning it is not believed it will spread beyond the gas house.

CAR

Charles S. Phillips, both legs broken; two ribs fractured and internally injured.

I. Hall, neck cut and head bruised.

In Enemy's Camp

(Advocate Telegram.)

Albany, Ore., May 21—When President Roosevelt entered Oregon today he found himself in the camp of the enemy. Ex-Senator Simon, who, though recently beaten for re-election wields a powerful influence in state politics, is moving heaven and earth to beat the President out of the delegation from this state at the next National convention and is doing his best to discredit him with the voters. Simon claims that the President discriminated against him in the matter of appointments because he is a Jew. This Roosevelt denies.

DETECTIVE

Makes a Statement Concerning the Agatha Reichlin Murder—He Gives Suspicions.

Lorain, O., May 21—Detective Jake Mintz, of the Mintz Detective Agency of Cleveland came to this city yesterday to see how the work is progressing on the Reichlin murder case. In an interview he asserts that his suspicions point to the Rev. Mr. Walser and to Cassimer Reichlin, but he does not say why. Following is the statement he makes:

"I am not in a position to make a statement, so far, I have not enough evidence to convince a jury. There are two theories as to why Miss Reichlin was murdered. Both point the same way. As I said, I have this evidence. I am satisfied, but I could not yet convince a jury. The case may be taken up to the grand jury, I know I could lay my hands on the guilty man, but so soon as I would do so there would be 10,000 people ready to break the jail down to get him out. The public would not believe he committed the crime.

"There are many forces at work in Lorain and these will have to be overcome. The only way to do it is to produce convincing proof that no one could deny. I am not through with the case and will keep at it until the evidence is either produced, or it is found to be an impossibility to obtain it. Mayor King is putting up a good fight against great odds and may win. He is working practically alone and is receiving no assistance or encouragement. It is upon the whole the most peculiar case I ever tackled. I shall have nothing further to say until the proof is produced and the likelihood is that will never be."

Detective Goldsmith is still at work here and is getting many small pieces of evidence, which seem incriminating. He believes Cassimer Reichlin, the dead girl's brother, is the man he wants. More interest is being manifested in the last 12 hours than for the last few days.

SOLDIERS

Will be Sent to Breathit to Remain During the Special Session of the Court—Soldiers Ready.

Owensboro, Ky., May 21—By Saturday night or Sunday morning a company of state guards will be encamped in Jackson, Ky., to remain during the special term of Court called by Judge Redwine and longer, if the conditions demand. Governor Beckham has been here since Saturday night visiting relatives and attending the Knights Templars' convocation. Yesterday afternoon he stated that he would send a company of troops to Jackson. In answer to a question he said:

"I have become convinced that the safety of the witnesses and the interests of peace demand the presence of the militia during the entire term of Court, and possibly longer. I shall arrive in Frankfort Friday and shall at once cause an order to be issued for a full company to go to Jackson to arrive there Saturday evening or Sunday morning. They will be encamped on the court house square and will be fully equipped for field duty. I cannot say what company will be designated for this duty."

Governor Beckham declined to state whether or not the troops had been called for by the county authorities. He has discussed the subject with friends, however, and the statement is made that he is acting on his own motion, under authority given him by law. From the same source it is learned that the Shelbyville company will almost certainly be ordered out.

Some excitement was caused here last night by an order for the local company to assemble at the armory under arms. The order was for the purpose of giving an exhibition drill before the Templar visitors.

IN READINESS

Troops Are Ordered to be Sent Into the Feud Country.

Lexington, Ky., May 21—All the members of Company C, Second Regiment Kentucky State Guard, under command of Captain C. C. Calhoun, are notified to report at their armory Saturday night for active service. This is taken to mean that Captain Calhoun will be sent to Breathitt to preserve the peace while the special term of court is in session.

Commonwealth's attorney, Floyd Boyd, of Breathitt, was in the city yesterday on way to Cincinnati. While here he gave out the following statement: "I shall endeavor to do my duty, and prosecute to the best of my ability. I do not think there will be any effort to swear in a special judge, and I am certain there will be no new Commonwealth attorney because there is no law for such action."

Ankle Sprained.
Mrs. James H. Smith, of 162 East Main street, slipped while alighting from a street car in Columbus Wednesday and badly sprained one of her ankles. She was brought home and is now confined to the house.

POTTER

Makes a Sensational Speech at Orange, New Jersey

Speaks of the Stumbling Block In Organized Labor

And the Bishop Concludes By Saying That the People Can Do a Great Service By Turning In and Helping the Other Side.

(Advocate Telegram.)

Orange, N. J., May 21—Bishop Henry C. Potter was the principal speaker at the dinner of the civic club of Orange last night. The bishop, who has been called the friend of labor, made a sensational speech.

He said conditions which confronted the people of America today were largely of their own making. He declared that one person had more to do with the situation than anyone else, and that was the manager or boss of a shop or factory, not because he tried to understand the interests of the workingman, but because he wanted to get out of the workingman all he possibly could for the benefit of his employer and the imperious manner of the foreman or boss did much to foster the ill-feeling.

"I believe the folly of the labor organization has in several instances alienated a great deal of the sympathy that would otherwise have gone to them," said the bishop. "One thing we must realize is that the community is not made up of either laborers or capitalists but rather of those between who are very largely affected by these differences.

"The time may come when organized labor may make itself so unpleasant that it may not be able to stay in New York. The great stumbling block in organized labor is that the freedom of the individual is invaded. That must be corrected. I believe a great service you and I can render to the age and to the classes who work among us with their hands is to understand them and turn in and help the other side."

POLICE

Dispersed a Mob of 300 Italian Strikers Today

(Advocate Telegram.)

New York, May 21—The police dispersed a mob of about 300 Italian strikers, who had gathered at Fourth avenue and Lafayette Place today. Night sticks were freely used and a number of strikers had broken heads, although no arrests were made. The Italians, infuriated by reports that the contractors in charge of that subway section had imported three hundred negroes from Baltimore to take the places of the strikers gathered along the line of the improvement soon after daybreak. They tried to break the league water main, which is exposed as a result of the excavation by dropping paving stones on it. The police on post summoned the reserves and charged the crowd which was quickly dispersed.

The fire is supposed to have started in Johnson's saloon but the cause is unknown. Most of the buildings were frame and although the burned district included half the business section of the village, the loss will not exceed $60,000 with $25,000 insurance.

SUMMIT STATION.

Summit Station, O., May 21—Miss Clara Clark, wife of A. A. Clark, died at her home here on Wednesday, after a long illness hastened by an attack of apoplexy. The deceased was aged 57 years on Monday and 58 days. The funeral was held at the Swaner grave yard. The burial of Clark would not permit a public funeral. The deceased leaves a husband, four sons and two daughters, two sons and a host of friends to mourn her death. All the members of the family have had the scar. I never with the exception of Mr. Clark. Mrs. Charles Bachlor and D. J. Smith, of Columbus, are visiting relatives here for a few days.

Tomorrow Night.

A second appearance is almost always demanded where J. B. Francis McDowell has given piano recitals and such is the case in Newark. After an exceptionally successful concert one year ago at the Y. M. C. IDEAL SERVANTS GALORE

Broker Who Offered $1,000,000 For One Gets Many Letters.

SOME WANT TO KNOW HIS AGE.

Correspondents of Wealthy Chicago Ask If They Will Have to Work For His Widow—One Man Recommends His Wife For the Position—Jersey Woman Cuts the Price.

It is barely possible that John Farson, the wealthy Chicago broker, wishes he had not offered a legacy of $1,000,000, payable at his death, to the servant who, living in his household through the years to come, would fill in character and service certain ideal requirements, among these being neatness, ability to cook, strength, diplomacy in all things, refusal to tattle, knowledge of nursing, says the New York Herald.

Mr. Farson is paying the penalty. The mails have already brought him a letter for pretty nearly every one of the million dollars he offered, and he has received word that the proprietor of the Waldorf-Astoria hotel in New York is to forward a freight car load of epistles from persons who are certain they can fill the position.

Some of the correspondents would like to know before entering upon service "How old are you anyway?" and "How long do you think you will live?" and "Will I have to work for your widow when you are dead?" The communications have come from all sections of the country, from whites, blacks and Indians, in many languages. Mr. Farson has given out several letters for publication on condition that the signatures shall not be used:

Here is a man who is willing to offer a servant by proxy, with a view to the ultimate million:

Rutherford, N. J., April 20.

John Farson: Dear Sir—If the applicant be a married woman, aged twenty-nine, who has never found it necessary to go out to service, is she barred from qualifying? I know she is eligible on all points stated, as she is my wife, and I have had seven years to find it out. I will forward you a photograph if desired and will give you full information concerning my wife and our position.

Here is one from a musically inclined miss:

Providence, R. I., April 22.

Dear Sir—Having seen your advertisement, I thought I would apply for the situation, as I think I am competent to fill it. I am considered a very good cook, a first class dressmaker and have had several doctors ask me to be a nurse on account of my natural aptitude for nursing. I dress in quiet colors from choice, but with a million in view could make them even more quiet. Is there a piano in the servants' apartments, as I am slightly musical? Also am quite a painter in oils.

A Kansas girl incloses a stunning photograph of herself and then says in part:

Vining, Kan., April 22. I am a good nurse, cook, dressmaker, seamstress, and tattle. I have a perfect figure and am thought to be very handsome, of the demure type. I am a poor girl and have outgoing rays strength in the past. Let me have $5,000 or $5,000. I'll pay it all back to you.

A letter came from a New York woman who wishes to assure Mr. Farson that, though she lives in New York city, she likes Chicago, "especially the part that is near Lake Michigan." The letter in part runs:

New York, April 27. My Dear Mr. and Mrs. Farson—Don't you think that ($1,000,000) one million dollars a fabulous sum to be offered for services in this prosaic world? I appreciate myself perhaps to that amount personally. I am 5 feet 4 inches in height, light complexion, auburn hair, blue eyes, weight variable, at the present time 130 pounds. I am an experienced nurse and can cook and can also dressmake neatly. This is the most ridiculous thing I ever done in my life. I await a reply. Kindly use a special delivery stamp or a registered letter if you see fit to write.

A New Jersey woman is willing to scale down the million dollar wage offered to a quarter of a million.

One elderly woman asks for the place in the Oak Park household and suggests that her long service as housekeeper in a Massachusetts insane asylum has fitted her admirably for the position.

There is genuine pathos in a letter written from a Massachusetts manufacturing town. It is from a widow and mother, once wealthy (printed inclosures prove it), who is now working in a factory for a pittance to support herself and her children. The letter is full of a proper pride, and the signature is that of the widow of a man once widely known in the business world.

To Honor Canadian Militiamen.

If Lord Roberts accompanies the contingent of 200 officers and men of the Honorable Artillery Company of London when they pay their return visit next September to the Honorable Artillery Company of Boston he will come over, says the Philadelphia Public Ledger, chiefly for the purpose of reviewing on behalf of the king the Canadian militia as a recognition of their services during the South African war.

Stuart Robson. Here he has cap and bells, Tinsel and strings, Motley, and all his spelia—Dumb, idle things Cap, cloak and domino He used to do; Let them in silence go Now he is gone.

Where is the humble wit, Keen, clear and kind? Where did his fancies flit? These left behind Are but the hollow things—Tame, empty shells Down the great jester flings This cap and bells.

Here lie his cap and bells! Death, old and wise, Raises a hand and tells, "Twas a disguise." —Chicago Tribune.

Bismarck and Grant. Sidney Whitman in his "Personal Reminiscences of Prince Bismarck" says:

"Bismarck's intimate friendship with Motley, the historian, is well known. He was also particularly attached to George Bancroft, so that when it became a question of Bancroft being recalled from his post of United States minister at Berlin Bismarck wrote specially to his friend Motley and begged him to intercede with the president to allow Bancroft to remain, and he did remain.

"Bismarck told me that when General Grant came to Berlin he accompanied him to see one of the reviews at the Tempelhofer feld. Grant was not well that day, and they had to get out in a closed carriage. Grant looked downcast and told Bismarck that it worried him to think that he was to meet the Prussian soldiers sitting cuddled up in a carriage like any ordinary civilian. 'Never you mind that, General Grant,' Bismarck said. 'You may sit here hidden from view, but our soldiers are well aware what sort of fighting man is in this closed carriage.'"

A Parable Impeached.

The parable of the wise man who built his house upon a rock and of the other man who built on the sands was uttered before the "house with modern improvements" had made its appearance or modern sanitary science had been evolved. A rock foundation is unimpeachable for stability, but it may be very bad when it comes to a matter of drainage, whether it be for the disposal of sewage or of surface or ground water. A cellar excavated in the rock is usually a wet cellar, because the water leeches through the crevices and seams in the rock, and it is both difficult and expensive to trench and drain properly about the walls of a building in a medium so hard to excavate. To be sure, if the rock drops away quickly on a sharp grade this difficulty may be altogether a minor one. A good gravel soil is one of the best to build upon in respect both to drainage and to the stability of the house, and compact sand, if not subject to the action of running water, is a most excellent foundation and a thoroughly good medium.—Cosmopolitan Magazine.

Short and Long Courtships.

Young ladies in Russia are not at all averse to long engagements and use all sorts of artifices to stave off the wedding day as long as possible, while in Siam, where old maids are unknown, as all girls marry, the recognized length of an engagement is one month. If an engaged man in the Argentine Republic dabbles beyond a reasonable time in leading his fiancée to the altar, he is heavily fined, and if a resident of the republic should fail to marry he is taxed until he reaches the age of eighty. In no country in the world are courtships so abnormally long as in Romania, where engagements commonly last from fifteen to twenty years. In fact, there recently died at the age of ninety-nine an old man who had been courting for seventy-five years and who was married on his deathbed.

A Marble Slab.

A writer in London Nature describes a white marble slab 2 inches thick and 35 by 70 inches, which is supported on stone posts and says in the middle three inches out of level. It furnishes evidence that marble is in reality a fluid of enormous viscosity. This has some bearing on the question of the fragility of the rocks composing the crust of the earth and the gradual adjustment of the earth's contour under gravity. The slab was placed in its present position in 1853.

Reason In Lowly Beings.

Bees know the time of day. Experimenters who feed them at a certain time each day find that they make no mistake in the hour.

The pigeons of St. Mark's, Venice, can tell tourists, who feed them as a matter of duty, from natives who do not. How? By their loitering? By their red guidebooks?

American horses driven without "blinders" are said to be less liable to fright than English horses which are made to wear them.

New Imposition.

Harris—Walters has been looking pretty sad since his daughter got married, hasn't he?

Correll—Yes. You see, he had no sooner got his daughter off his hands than he found he would have to put her husband on his feet.—Town and Country.

Taken at His Word.

He (after marriage)—What! You have no fortune? You said over and over again that you were afraid some one would marry you for your money.

She—Yes; and you said over and over again that you would be happy with me if I hadn't a cent. Well, I haven't a cent.

Idle Talks.

Industry is the foundation of everything worthy, yet there are a great many idle people. An idle man or woman is a bad advertisement for any community. Investigation will reveal that it is the idle people who engage in bad scrapes.—Athens Globe.

The Young Man—From the fact that your people put themselves out of their way to snub me.

Animals and Pain.

Ascertained facts seem to show us that by the lower forms of animal life very little pain, as we understand the word, can be felt at all. Lobsters, for instance, will voluntarily deprive themselves of their claws if suddenly alarmed by some such sound as that caused by the firing of a heavy gun above them. A crab, seized while feeding by a greater and stronger, will continue its meal while being itself devoured. A fish, torn and mangled by the hook, will return in a moment or two to the bait, with its appetite unimpaired.

A blindworm or a sand lizard, if unexpectedly seized, will snap its body in twain and glide away, none the worse for the mutilation, to reproduce the severed substance. It is hard, indeed, in cases such as these to insist that pain, in our sense of the term, can be in any real degree endured.

FOR "OLD HOME WEEK"

Huge Family Reunion Planned by New England States.

JUST A MILLION SOULS INVITED.

Associations of Prominent Citizens Are Arranging For Big General Celebrations—Some Data About the Ties of Sentiment That Bind Down East States to Each Other.

New England expects to welcome nearly half a million of her scattered children back under their old roof-trees during the summer, says the Brooklyn Eagle. She is planning—every state of her with the solitary exception of Rhode Island—a mammoth family reunion to take place during the summer vacation. Nearly every town in Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts and Connecticut has planned an "old home week" for some time between the middle of July and the middle of September. They have invited their wandering sons and daughters, who went forth many years ago to make their fortunes, and their grandsons and granddaughters, who were born in many instances on the soil of some upstart western state and have never seen the old home, back for a week on the old soil. And the invitation is being numerous accepted, and during the vacation thousands and hundreds of thousands will turn their steps eastward.

Just a million have been invited, all told. They have been invited by one or another of the New England towns to come back and join hands with the people still around the old firesides whose grandfathers were the friends and neighbors of their grandfathers. And the idea has taken mightily. All Yankee land is interested. State associations of the most prominent citizens are arranging for big general celebrations, and each individual town is preparing to look well to its own.

As is usual in such cases it is not entirely a matter of sentiment. New England has a reputation for practical hard headedness which will put even sentiment on a practical, paying basis. She expects to derive a tremendous benefit from this whole "old home week" movement. She is planning the biggest red-ribbon-er projected—in fact, a series of hundreds of reunions combined into one tremendous whole. And she expects to combine profit with the pleasure of the meeting.

Scarcely a city, town or hamlet east of the New York state line but will have its day of welcoming its old townfolk. The boys that went away poor, the girls that married and made new homes for themselves, will "come back" prosperous, with their families. The experience of the past four years has shown what they will do. Summoned by this call to the old homes, which they would probably not otherwise have visited, they will be feted and made much of. The old love will return. Some of them will buy old farms and turn them into beautiful country places, others will give libraries or other public buildings, rebuild ancient churches, erect tablets and monuments.

Some idea of the strong ties of sentiment that bind the New England states to each other and to the other states of the Union may be gathered by the following summary. In considering the data we should remember that it represents only present conditions and does not refer in any way to the thousands of native emigrants who have in generations past gone out from these states to fight the battles of civilization, and who have done so much toward pushing our frontier from the upper Hudson to the Mississippi, from the Mississippi to the Rocky mountains, and from the Rocky mountains to the golden sands of the Pacific.

Maine has furnished 216,551. New Hampshire 124,048. Vermont 168,542. Massachusetts 239,614. Rhode Island 61,542 and Connecticut 142,254 toward this grand total of 1,012,567.

Of these New Englanders 312,000 have gone to the middle and extreme west. They have founded cities there and built up states in which the spirit of New England institutions is reincarnated and which stand as a unit with New England on all great questions of public policy and national honor. Scattered along the southern seaboard from Delaware to Florida are 22,000 more and in other parts of the south about 3,000. In the nearer states of New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania are 177,332, while the interchange between the New England states themselves amounts to about half a million.

California has been the objective point of over 50,000 from New England, and 30,000 have settled in Colorado, Washington and Oregon. Illinois stands close to California, with 40,000 to her credit. Next in order are Minnesota, with 30,000; Wisconsin, with 23,000; Michigan, with 22,000; Iowa, with 21,000; Ohio, with 19,000; and Missouri, Indiana, Kansas and Nebraska, with a total of 42,000, which is equal to the entire population of Nevada.

New York has drawn upon New England for 126,000 of her people, and the draft has been honored. Sixty-five thousand have gone to swell the population of New York city, while the New England colony in Chicago numbers 23,000, that in San Francisco 10,000, and an equal number have followed in the footsteps of William Penn to help build up the Quaker City.

In New York city the New Englanders on Dr. Bangs' calculations, are: From Maine, 3,654; from New Hampshire, 2,331; from Vermont, 4,125; from Massachusetts, 25,235; from Rhode Island, 4,638; from Connecticut, 20,480.

[Quite the latest society game in London is said to be "bubbles." The players blow bubbles along a plank and over a miniature bridge. Bubble parties are to be the fashion this season.]

Oh, no, we don't play pingpong now. The racket's reign is over. No more we mop our heated brow While crawling on the floor. Even the veriest champion's play No longer makes for fame. The net and balls are stowed away. We've found another game.

You take a pipe of common sort. Some gaspeds in a jar. Two chairs—one tall, the other short—A plank, and there you are. It's made a most enormous hit, And "bubbles" is its name. And if you try it you'll admit It's quite a thrilling game.

It's seen at crushes, balls and fetes. Oh, would that I could pen The wild excitement it creates Among the upper ten! His nightly bridge the duke forsakes, The marquess does the same, And his bubble hit it breaks. It's such a jolly game.

And if you seek the reason why They play with such a zest, The constant puffing, they reply, Is splendid for the chest. It's quickly learned and so refined, And (here's its highest claim) It doesn't overtax the mind. That's why they like the game. —London Daily Chronicle.

Deafness Cannot be Cured.

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness caused by catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Stale Medicines.

"The length of time a prescription retains its efficacy depends upon the ingredients," said a druggist. "Some combinations of drugs keep on good terms with each other indefinitely, while others get into a row after being mixed together for awhile, and the man who swallows a dose of the compound is apt to feel a good deal worse than before he took it. As a rule, medicines that are quite sweet keep their curative virtues longer than those that are acid or bitter. Most any medicine can be taken in safety six months after compounding, and many will be all right six years hence. Those that are not good generally take on a curdled, milky appearance, but that is by no means an infallible rule, and the person who wishes to save his system uncomfortable complications would do well to let all old medicines strictly alone."—New York Press.

The Key to Success.

"Advertising pays" has come to be an axiom of modern methods. The business man who tries to be successful without it is tempting fate instead of fortune. The American nation today is recognized abroad as the greatest industrial and commercial proposition in the world, and the American nation spends $250,000,000 annually in advertising its business.—Rochester Herald.

All Planters Were Architects.

Very few of the old houses of the south, except some of the Georgian houses of Charleston, which belong to an earlier period than the white columned houses of the early nineteenth century, have elaborately decorated interiors. The reason is not far to seek. Except in the seacoast cities of the south skilled labor was rare, and architects were almost unknown. The great majority of planters therefore were compelled either to import their architectural designs or draw them themselves. Most of them preferred to do the latter (as Thomas Jefferson preferred to draw his own plans for Monticello) and to oversee personally the construction of the houses.

With this end in view almost all men of means in the south prior to the civil war were students of architecture and ready purchasers of such architectural plates as were published from time to time. To this day heavy volumes on Greek architecture—technical works that only students would care to own—are to be found as features of such old family libraries as are still preserved throughout the south.—Mrs. Thaddeus Horton in House Beautiful.

Moving in Spanish Cities.

An odd sight to be seen in Spanish cities is the manner of moving household effects. In cities like Toledo and Cordova the streets are mostly very narrow and the houses tall, sometimes six or seven stories. The streets are often so narrow that horse vehicles are not permitted in them. When the people move from place to place their household goods and chattels are transported in handcarts. Then, instead of being painfully lugged up the narrow staircases, for there are no elevators, they are hoisted in large baskets by means of block and tackle to the particular floor to which they are destined. When there are they are passed in through large doorlike windows. In most of these cities one sees ornamental iron hooks projecting from the topmost cornice of the facade, to which the tackle is adjusted. It works on precisely the same plan as that followed in American stable lofts for hoisting hay.

Mrs. Fairbanks tells how neglect of warning symptoms will soon prostrate a woman. She thinks woman's safeguard is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"Ignorance and neglect are the cause of untold female suffering, not only with the laws of health but with the chance of a cure. I did not heed the warnings of headaches, organic pains and general weariness, until I was well nigh prostrated. I knew I had to do something. Happily I did the right thing. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound faithfully according to directions, and was rewarded in a few weeks to find that my aches and pains disappeared, and I again felt the glow of health through my body. Since I have been well I have been more careful. I have also advised a number of my sick friends to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and they have never had reason to be sorry. Yours very truly, MRS. MAY FAIRBANKS, 218 South 7th St., Minneapolis, Minn." CHINA'S AWAKENING.

Aims of Reform Association Discussed by Its Leader.

RETHRONING EMPEROR THE CHIEF

Leong Kai Cheu says Without His Aid Nothing Can Be Accomplished. Progressive Ideas of the Occident Spreading Throughout the Empire Despite the Empress Dowager's Opposition.

Professor Leong Kai Cheu, founder and vice president of the Chinese Empire Reform Association, ex-teacher in the palace of the emperor of China and second to Kang Lu Wei, the leader of the Chinese national reform movement, which despite the unrelenting opposition of the empress dowager is spreading all over the empire, arrived in New York the other evening, having come from Japan by way of Canada, says the New York Times.

This is the first visit to America of Leong Kai Cheu, who is regarded as the most powerful man in Chinese education and politics today. He founded the Chinese Empire Reform Association in 1897, and now its membership far exceeds 3,000,000, with branches covering every part of the world where Chinese reside. There are only two parties in China, that of the empress dowager and the Reform Association. The former is still the stronger, but its power is on the wane, while the reform association is growing every day.

Professor Leong's visit to the United States is for the purpose of stirring up enthusiasm among the various branch organizations of the association which exist in almost every large city in the country. The head of this movement is only thirty years old and has a boyish face. He dresses like an American and looks like an Americanized Chinaman, although he does not speak English.

Professor Leong was perfectly frank in discussing the aims of his reform organization.

"While I have not been in China officially in some years," said he, "I have been there a good many times under assumed names and in disguise and am thoroughly alive to the events as they shape themselves in the empire. All the world is by this time acquainted with the aims of the Chinese reformers. Of course our principal aim is the rethroning of the emperor, for without his aid we can accomplish nothing in the way of reform."

"The empress dowager is hopelessly set against any movement whatsoever that will tend in the slightest degree to get away from the customs of ancient China. All her protestations and all her promises are absolutely insincere, and we who know her best have not the least idea of accomplishing anything through her."

"The emperor, while he is a Mantebo and a man of no very conspicuous ability, nevertheless is imbued with the idea that the empire to progress must get in line with the other nations of the earth and abandon many useless and handicapping customs. He has got all of his ideas of western civilization from Japanese, English and American sources, and it is these three peoples that he would take for his models in fashioning a new regime."

"The party of the dowager empress, or, rather, the following of the empress dowager, is still all powerful in the empire, but its strength is rapidly waning, and even before her death the overthrow of her power may be brought about. Her death, however, is sure to see the beginning of the new era in China, for we are ready to make ourselves felt in the government. It would surprise you to know the number of men who are connected directly with the Peking government who are members of the reform party. Our next aim is the framing of a constitution and the establishment of a house of parliament similar in general respects to that of England, where our sons may take a hand in the government. The third aim is a thorough reform in the matter of education. China to keep pace with the other nations of the earth must establish a system of education on modern lines."

"The Chinese reformers do not wish the empire to break away from all of its old traditions. No country can give up all of its traditions and gain by it. What we want is simply the addition of certain essential principles of western civilization into our national life. The emperor realizes this, and these schemes, begun already and interrupted, will be resumed, and that very soon. I might add here that the nations to feel the first effects of beneficial reform in China will be the United States, England and Japan. The Chinese have obtained their first and only impressions of foreign civilizations from these three countries and will mold their new national life from a composite idea gained from the three."

"As to the Boxers and the Boxer movement, the Boxer organizations still exist, but their influence is reactionary and will never make itself seriously felt again, for the whole country is rapidly becoming imbued with the idea of reform."

As to China's attitude toward Russia and the latter's occupation of Manchuria, Professor Leong said that there was little doubt in China that Russia intended under the very first pretext to seize the territory for permanent occupation. The idea held in some quarters that a secret understanding between China and Russia exists was absolutely erroneous.

Fish Without Bail.
The fishermen of Ciudad Bolivar, on the Orinoco river, in South America, catch their fish in the queerest way in the world. They use no bait, but try to hook the fish by the body. A cylindrical weight is tied to a long line. Above this weight, for a length of six inches, strong fish hooks are attached. The line is thrown out in places where the current is swift and shoals of fish pass. It is hauled in rapidly by a series of jerks and usually there is a fish on half the hooks.

The Esquimo cats blubber. The lumbermen eat pork. These people are constantly exposed to cold and physical strain. Experience has taught them that fatty foods give warmth and nourishment.

For those who have cold and thin bodies, or are threatened with consumption or any wasting disease, there is no fat in so digestible and palatable a form as Scott's Emulsion. Physicians prescribe it.

When King Edward went to Italy he met, according to the London Chronicle, a king who is more of a Stuart than himself. Both are descended from James I., but the King of Italy is also, through his mother's side, eleventh descent from Charles I. In strict right, Victor Emmanuel has far more claim to the British crown than his royal guest who wears it. But for their Catholic religion, the Savoy would have been installed to rule over England, and not the Brunswicks, when the Stuarts were evicted. After the children of James II., the next in blood was the Duchess of Savoy, daughter of Henrietta, the youngest child of Charles I. But she was not a Protestant, and so was debarred. Thus it was that the British crown passed to the House of Brunswick by the act of settlement in 1701. Otherwise the Savoy would now be the royal family.

What is the use of declaring against tariff revision, as these Republicans in Iowa did, and then further declaring that "we favor any modification" which shall prevent the tariff's "affording any shelter to monopoly"? Especially when every man, north, south, east, and west, Republican or Democrat, knows that upward of 267 of the big industrial trusts are directly fed and fostered by the tariff—the trusts which supply our daily necessities.

It is the tariff which allows the trusts to make these high prices for their products. Had there been no such overcapitalized combinations the competition between the separate establishments would give to the people the benefit of prices regulated by the cost of production and would make the prosperity more general and more enduring.

A statue of General Robert E. Lee, commander in chief of the confederate armies, will be placed in Statuary hall at Washington, just as soon as it can be prepared. The Virginia legislature has taken the final step by passing a bill making $10,000 available for the work and appointing a commission to see that the plans are executed.

The tyranny with which Secretary Roots elects to govern the expressions of all army officers, active and retired, is causing the greatest dissatisfaction with the present administration, not only among officers but among their friends.

A POLITICAL REMINISCENCE.

(Man-field Shield)

Andrew Johnston, aged 68 years, is dead at his home near Paint Valley, in Holmes county. It is said that Mr. Johnston prior to the national convention that renominated Mr. Lincoln in 1864 received a letter addressed "Andrew Johnston, Nashville, Ohio," where he then got his mail and on opening it he found it was from John Sherman and he urged Mr. Johnston to be a candidate for president against Mr. Lincoln. Mr. Johnston then saw that while it was addressed to him it was intended for Andrew Johnson of Nashville, Tenn., who became vice-president with Mr. Lincoln. After Mr. Lincoln's death Senator Sherman posed as his great friend and defender. Had Lincoln lived it is probable that Senator Sherman and other Republican leaders would have made the same fight against him as they did against Andrew Johnson. It is apparent, at any rate from the letter referred to above that Mr. Sherman was opposed to the re-election of Mr. Lincoln.

Roosevelt's Negro Policy.
(Albany Argus)

If any man can make head or tail to President Roosevelt's policy—if he has a policy—in dealing with the so-called negro problem, he is entitled to the medal for the best guesser. About the only definite purpose in sight appears to be a desire to persecute and humiliate a few prosperous and proud white Democratic communities in the south by subjecting them to a treatment which would never be tried on any northern city.

Too Great a Risk.

In almost every neighborhood someone has died from an attack of cholera or cholera morbus, often before medicine could be procured, or a physician could be summoned. A reliable remedy for these diseases should be kept at hand. The risk is too great for anyone to take. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has undoubtedly saved the lives of more people and relieved more pain and suffering than any other medicine in use. It can be relied upon. Landlord Says Mrs. Spence Would
Have Been Dismissed from Her Position Anyway.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 21.—An entirely new phase of the story of the refusal of Lula Spence, the chambermaid to make the bed that had been occupied by Booker T. Washington, is presented by Henry W. Lawrence, proprietor of the English and New Claypool hotels. He declared that the public, the South especially, is being humbugged by the woman and that he can produce affidavits to prove what he says. As previously stated in the Advocate Mrs. Spence received one New Orleans check for $1000, besides many other contributions.

"I have hesitated about making a reply in the newspapers to the story the Spence woman is telling about being discharged because she refused to make Washington's bed," said he. "But I have concluded the time has come to call a halt on it. The papers of the South especially have taken up her side and have crucified the management of the English for taking Washington as a guest. I was not in Indianapolis when he registered, but I know that many of the best hotels have entertained him."

"So far as the Spence woman being discharged because she refused to make his bed, there is not a word of truth in that. She knew she was to be discharged anyhow for an infringement of the rules, as the housekeeper told her so during my absence. She left on that account. Moreover, she did make Washington's bed after the first night she was there, and after she found he had been in the room talking to a reporter while she was at work, she told another chambermaid that Washington was there and that he knew a lot more than most white people. I can get an affidavit to prove that she made this statement, so she is just playing for sympathy of the Southern people in a shrewd manner."

Mr. Lawrence is preparing to give the woman's story a thorough airing. He says the Southern papers have been referring to her as a young girl, whereas she is a woman of about 40, who has three children living. Some of the Southern papers in criticising the management of the hotel for entertaining Washington, have given it a political coloring, but Mr. Lawrence says so far as that feature is concerned, he is a Democrat, regardless of the fact that Washington was his guest.

Miss Spence received a handsome gold watch and chain from unknown Indianapolis admirers. She was also notified that a purse of $500 is being made up for her at Houston, Texas.

Her husband, with whom she has not lived for some time, brought suit for divorce and the Board of Children's Guardians asked Judge Stubbs of the Juvenile Court, for possession of their adopted child.

RESOLUTIONS.

Cedar Camp No. 4727, Modern Woodmen of America, Newark, Ohio, Wednesday evening, May 20, 1903. Committee appointed to draft resolutions appropriate to the death of John Robert Beppard a member of said camp, who died at St. Francis de Sales hospital at Columbus, Ohio on Sunday, May 17th, 1903, and buried on Wednesday May 20, 1903, in our beautiful Cedar Hill cemetery, would say how full of blessing is the thought that he left an insurance of two thousand dollars for his life, who hopelessly paralyzed but thus wisely provided against poverty and want in her sore affliction. Such a condition of things robs death of some stings and helps memory to cover over its saddest hours. The widow will find among the members neighbors who do not forget their obligations. Let copies be furnished the city papers and a copy furnished the widow, also entered in the journal of the camp. Respectfully,
N. C. SHERBURNE,
JOHN W. ADAMS,
JAMES H. SMITH,
Committee.

Cattle Fishing.

Cattle require deft handling. The bait, which consists of a rough chunk of fish fastened to a hook or even tied to a string, is not dropped over the side to be swallowed, but to excite the gustatory organs of the cuttle and to be slowly pulled up until those mollusks have reached the surface in a vain attempt to embrace it with their long arms. Then in a moment a guff is plunged into the leathery mantle of the would be diner and the creature is unceremoniously flung into the boat. The prosaic nature of the fishing is sometimes punctuated by grotesque incidents. For instance, the cuttle which brought our catch up to a baker's dozen helped to support the idea that thirteen is an unlucky number by making his entrance into the boat a pretext for emptying his bag of sepa into the face of his captor, the liquid transforming that gentleman's glib speech into a mere incoherent spluttering, and then running down his white "jumper" in what the daylight showed to be a black torrent. "That was a brave clumsy job," remarked a comrade, referring, not to the aim of the cuttle, but to the incautious handling of the fisherman.—John Isabell in Longman's.

A Startling Test.

To save a life, Dr. T. G. Merritt, of No. Mehoopany, Pa., made a startling test resulting in a wonderful cure. He writes, "a patient was attacked with violent hemorrhages, caused by ulceration of the stomach. I had often found Electric Bitters excellent for acute stomach and liver troubles so I prescribed them. The patient gained from the first, and has not had an attack in fourteen months." Electric Bitters are positively guaranteed for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation and Kidney troubles. Try them. Only 50 cents at Hall's Drug Store.

A Shake All Round.

"Oh, yes, I proposed, but when I got through she shook her head!"
"But surely that didn't discourage you?"
"Well, no, not as much as the fact that her father came along and shook his fist."—Exchange.

A Pair.

"How does Mrs. Henry Peck manage to keep that cook of hers?"
"She threatened to leave, but Mrs. Peck would not give a recommendation, and she wouldn't go without one—and they are both stubborn."

About the 15th of June, 1900, I commenced using Nau's Dyspepsia Cure, and am pleased to say that I consider myself entirely cured of all stomach troubles. I have delayed expressing to you my opinion of your valuable remedy until such a time has elapsed as to convince me of my entire recovery. At the time I began to use Nau's Dyspepsia Cure, my health was in a critical condition and my friends had almost given up hope of my recovery, and I am satisfied in my opinion that had it not been for Nau's Dyspepsia Cure, I would not be alive to write this letter." RELIEF FUND FOR JEWS

Subscriptions Now Being Received for the Stricken People—Newark Persons Who Have Given—
Small Contributions are Solicited.

Further details of the Kishineff massacre of Russian Jews given on the Advocate's first page today show that the number of dead is even greater than shown in the earlier reports. Refugees from the stricken district continue to give graphic and horrifying details of the slaughter showing more clearly than ever the urgent necessity for immediate help.

The Advocate yesterday printed an appeal to the Newark people endorsed by Mayor Crilly and suggested that all who are willing to contribute to this worthy cause leave their contributions at the office of the Newark Real Estate and Improvement company, ground floor, No. 14 North Side Public Square, as this office is open all day and during the evening. The article said that Mr. W. R. Hearst of Chicago had opened the subscription with a donation of $1000.

The best proof. Read it: J. W. Lippincott, owner of back line, Chestnut street, says: "I was troubled a great deal with rheumatism and a pain in my back, more like the thrust of a sharp knife than anything else I can compare with. I started using Doan's Kidney Pills sold at Crayton's drug store. Their effect was really remarkable. They drove away the pain out of both my sides; there was not a trace of it left. I could stoop at will, lift weight, yet feel as supple as ever I felt."

BASE BALL

GAME AT GRANVILLE IS WON BY DENISON.

Home Team Defeats Western Reserve 10 to 7 in Loose Game—West Virginia Tomorrow.

There was all kinds of baseball served up for the delectation of a small midweek crowd at Beaver Field, in Granville, Wednesday afternoon, in the game between Denison and Western Reserve, of Cleveland.

There is only one consolation in the result of the game for Denison adherents, and that is the fact that the home team was lucky enough to win, for that they did win was luck pure and simple. At times their work was like that of a newly organized High school team, instead of baseball played by a team out for the championship of Ohio colleges. Only once in a while would the team get together, and give a glimpse of the brilliant work of which they are capable.

Four of Denison's runs, scored in the first two innings, were the result of Proctor's passed balls, while the other two were unearned.

Cherney, who formerly attended Denison, and last fall played on the football team, was in the box for Reserve, and pitched a good game. He, however, contributed a costly error, by dropping a high infield fly after two were out. Merrick on third is a hard working little player but his over anxiety caused him to throw wild on a couple of occasions. He is a pitcher and played third Wednesday as substitute for the regular bagman, who is out of the game.

Reserve has one of the best college outfielders in Ohio. Dakin and Meub are fast, sure fielders, and Patton is also a good man. Sickman's batting was one of the features of the game, his three hits being clean cut and timely.

Chambers was not at his best, and was a trifle wild, but his support was discouraging. Scott played an errorless game at second while Webber as usual caught a perfect game. Flanagan in center made a difficult catch of a line drive at a critical moment which saved at least two runs.

Roudebush had two errors, but the four chances he accepted were more than compensatory. While his base running was the best ever seen in Granville. He ran for Webber, who is lame.

Mr. Stanton, Denison's coach, inspired the game in a most satisfactory manner. Hardly a breath of protest was made even in close decisions. Mr. Stanton is to be highly commended for his impartial judgment of play, and his knowledge of the game makes him a most desirable official. The following is the tabulated score.

PEOPLE WHO CAN'T SLEEP.

Many people go to bed—not to sleep, but to think—to tumble and to-s—get up, walk about until tired Nature gives way and a few fitful hours of sleep are obtained just before dawn—a sleep that does not rest—a sleep from which one wakes weary and tired, wholly unfitted to take up the daily routine of household, shop or office duties. That condition goes on uncorrected for is almost criminal, when the well known, time-tested and tested powers of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills to give restful, natural sleep have been so fully proven in such cases.

Mrs. W. Bates of 1434 South Sixth street, Newark, Ohio, says: "Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills I know are excellent because they made my nerves steady—gave me strength and good restful sleep, three things I needed badly. Their action was rapid and more than satisfactory, and I am right glad in the face of the fine result I obtained that C. T. Bricker, druggist, called my attention to the medicine. See a box at dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. See that portrait and signature of A. W. Chase M. D. are on every package. 25c."

A Terrifying Hat.

When the French artist Benjamin Constant was traveling in Morocco he was invited by the sultan to present himself at court at Fez. The New York Staats-Zeitung says that the painter's first thought was in regard to his costume.

"Court" in Europe was one thing; in Morocco it was likely to prove something different. There was nothing to do, however, but to wear his ordinary evening clothes. He was ignorant of the fact that the Moors look upon black garments as very vulgar, and it was only after his arrival that he learned his mistake.

The courtiers smiled openly: worst of all, they sneered. The painter was a man of hasty temper, and suddenly, nettled by their insolence, he closed his opera hat and sprung it open in the faces of the jeering crowd. They scattered, yelling with surprise and fear.

The sultan heard the noise and demanded the cause. After he had seen and examined the wonderful hat he gave this oracular opinion:

"If I had lived a hundred years in your country and adopted all your other customs I could never have brought myself to set on my head so hideous a contrivance as that!"

One Recommendation.

The members of a political party in a certain county were holding a convention to nominate a candidate for treasurer. The leading aspirant was a man who had formerly been noted as a baseball player. He had made a great record as a batsman, but was notoriously slow in running bases.

The man who had placed him in nomination made a speech extolling him as a man and a citizen. He was followed by others in the same vein, and things seemed to be going smoothly enough when one of the delegates rose and said:

"Mr. Chairman, are good men so scarce that we have to choose a baseball player for the most important office in the county, involving the handling of hundreds of thousands of dollars?"

"Mr. Chairman," replied the original mover, "it is true that the candidate I have mentioned was a ball player, but let me ask you, Mr. Chairman, is there a man here who ever saw him steal even a base?"

Diseases of the Seasons.

Physicians say that certain diseases follow the changing seasons with almost clockwork regularity. Thus acute rheumatism prevails from February till April, inflammations of the lungs from March till May, stomach and intestinal complaints in August and cholera from August to October. On this basis some hygienists classify diseases into summer, fall, winter and spring diseases. This classification is supported by many facts which show that weather changes really exert powerful influences upon health and disease. To cope successfully with these changes and their harmful influences daily exercise in the open air in all kinds of weather and at all seasons of the year is the best preparation. This toughens the system and is at once prevention and cure.

Blood Bargaining.

A repellent scene took place before the boy of Tunis recently. It was the bucksterning for a man's life in the presence of the victim. He was an Arab who had slain a rival in love and was sentenced to die, when, almost at the hour fixed for execution, the murdered man's father offered to treat, according to the Koran, for the price of blood.

The bargaining was conducted in the boy's presence, but, as the murderer's family would not go beyond $24 to save him, the doomed man, after a gleam of hope, was led to the gallows and hanged.

POPE LIKES KAISER'S SONS.

Leo XIII. Calls Prince Elitel "Il Bambino," Meaning "Little Boy."

The pope displayed great interest during the recent visit of the Kaiser to Italy and spoke freely about it, especially in regard to the young royal princes, says a special cable dispatch from Rome to the Chicago Inter Ocean. His holiness was particularly affected by Prince Elitel, whom he took by the hand and, gently patting it, said, "You must be about the age of my godson, Alphonse of Spain, whom I still never see." He added sadly, "He is a dear boy, but not so strong and tall and bony (bony) as this bambino little boy."

Prince Elitel's fair skin flushed, much to the amusement of the pope, who laughed heartily. When the visit of the Kaiser and his sons was over the pope remarked: "Those are boys to be proud of. But say! How is it the emperor can look so young?"

Prince Elitel is now being unmercifully chaffed by his brother, who has told the story, and dubs Elitel "Il Bel Bambino" (the pretty little boy), which sounds terrible in the ears of a soldier of nineteen.

France Elitel's fair skin flushed, much to the amusement of the pope, who laughed heartily. When the visit of the Kaiser and his sons was over the pope remarked: "Those are boys to be proud of. But say! How is it the emperor can look so young?"

An Old Favorite

A RECIPE FOR SALAD

By Sydney Smith

THE name of the Rev. Sydney Smith (born 1781, died 1845) has come down to us as that of the greatest of English wit, and stories of his quickness of mind are still written and told. He was educated at Winchester and Oxford and held various livings in the Church of England. Smith was one of the founders of the Edinburgh Review, its first editor and one of its chief contributors for twenty years. Edward Everett says of him, "If he had not been known as the wisest man of his day, he would have been accounted one of the wisest."

TO make this condiment your poet begs
The pounded yellow of two hard-boiled eggs;
Two boiled potatoes, passed through kitchen sieve;
Smoothness and softness to the salad give;
Let onions lurk within the bowl,
And, half suspected, animate the whole;
Of mordant mustard add a single spoon,
Distrust the condiment that bites too soon;
But deem it not, thou man of herbs, a fault
To add a double quantity of salt;
Four times the spoon with oil from Lucan crown,
And twice with vinegar, procured from town;
And lastly, o'er the flavored compound toss
A magic soupçon of anchovy sauce.
O green and glorious! O herbaceous treat!
'Twould tempt the dying anchorite to eat;
Back to the world he'd turn his fleeing soul,
And plunge his fingers in the salad-bowl;
Serenely full, the epicure would say,
"Fate cannot harm me—I have dined to-day."

A POETICAL ANATHEMA.

Rev. Dr. Hillis Describes Advantages of Trip to Hades on Brooklyn Car.

"To Hades on a Brooklyn car" is the title of the latest poetical effusion of the Rev. Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, pastor of Plymouth church, Brooklyn, says the New York Herald.

Dr. Hillis when seen at his residence the other day said that he had written a poem on a recent Sunday while filled with "righteous indignation" over having been stalled on a trolley car while trying to catch a train at the Grand Central station. He had an engagement to deliver an address in "Connecticut" in the evening. He took a trolley car to cross the bridge, and when about half way over there was a block.

Dr. Hillis left the car and walked to the New York side, where he caught a train to Forty-second street, arriving at the Grand Central station to find that he was just one minute behind the train. The doctor's blood was up. Sitting down in the station, he composed the following anathema:

TO HADES ON A BROOKLYN CAR.
Lines Composed In a Brooklyn Rapid Transit Car by a Tramp.

[Dedicated to the president, with apologies to William Watson.]
For me this car's a goodly place wherein to die,
For me, to sudden changes grown
All violent contrasts fain avoid would I.
On passing from this world into a worse.

When Tantalus, by gods accursed, his fate endured
He saw the water from his lips recede,
My goal not even recedes, while I'm injured
Four deep in car mates' oaths of every breed.

While creeping, shivering, jerking, we go
Inch by inch,
My home, the place I long for, shines afar,
Some day, when summons comes to Hades,
To take a Brooklyn rapid transit car!

"It is all right for Hades, because no one is in a hurry to get there, but for the higher place we want better service than is now given," said Dr. Hillis, when asked to explain the wherefore of it.

Incidents of Foreign Travel.
Mr. C. E. Johnstone in Travel says that experienced wanderers in out of the way places are thankful for what they can get, and he instances a traveler who was proposing to pass the night at Njegos, a tiny village in Montenegro.

"Have you succeeded in finding a room?" asked Mr. Johnstone.
"Yes."
"Is it a good room?"
"No, not bad. There are three other people going to sleep in it."
"Oh, well, that's all right. Is the bed clean?"
"No, I don't know that the bed is clean. But then one can get clean beds at home."

In one continental hotel a German lady summoned the waiter in the dining room and said:
"Close that window or I shall die."
"Garcon," exclaimed an English lady, "leave it open or I shall expire!"

At this point a Frenchman interposed politely: "Leave it open till the German lady has died, and then close it till the English lady has expired. Then we shall be able to do as we like!"

OCTOGENARIAN

Sued by a Matron of 64, Who Asks $9,000 Balm for a Broken Vow.

Ironton, O., May 21—An interesting breach of promise suit is in progress here, in which Mrs. Frances E. Johnson, aged 64 years, charges Abner Dille, aged 84, with trifling with her. It took half a day to tell the jury of her courtship.

Later, says Mrs. Johnson, Dille requested that the wedding be postponed and a half dozen different dates were named, until she became convinced that he had been trifling with her. It took half a day to tell the jury of her courtship.

Dille is worth $100,000, and admits that he made goo-goo eyes at his housekeeper, but never thought seriously of marrying her. The parties live at Greasy Ridge. The suit is hotly contested. Scores of women attend the trial.

DYING

NO HOPE FOR MAN HURT HERE TUESDAY

Doctors Say That John Drescher Can Not Live Long—Patient at the City Hospital.

John Drescher, the Columbus man, who fell from the top of the new building being erected by the Newark Real Estate and Improvement Company, into the cellar, by the falling of the elevator, is still alive at the city hospital, although no hopes are entertained of his recovery. Dr. Dick, the family physician, came over from Columbus Thursday afternoon and held a consultation with Dr. J. P. H. Stedem and Dr. Carl Evans, regarding his condition. After making a careful examination they arrived at the verdict that he was rapidly sinking and that the end was near. This is due to shock and the fact that he is internally injured.
